Peace Negotiators Announce Release of 14 VC Sailors

PARIS (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, U.S. peace negotiator, announced Wednesday the forthcoming release of 14 North Vietnamese sailors held by the United States. He asked freedom for more U.S. airmen held in North Vietnam.

Freeing the sailors was a gesture of goodwill like the recent North Vietnamese release of three American pilots, he said.

He appealed especially for the names of those injured, and of those held for a long time.

The chief North Vietnamese delegate at the session, Ambassador Ha Van Lau, said his government takes a humane attitude toward the men it holds. The North Vietnamese claim to have captured about 1,000 American airmen. They have released six this year.

A U.S. spokesman said the 14 sailors, captured in 1968 when torpedo boats attacked U.S. vessels, are the last North Vietnamese in American hands and they will be freed soon.

Lau said he would consult his government about how to handle the release. Most North Vietnamese captured by U.S. forces have been turned over to the South Vietnamese.

Harriman had no progress to report from the 16th session of the talks, which are now almost three months old. Another meeting will be held next Wednesday.

The North Vietnamese insisted, as they have from the start, that the United States must stop bombing them before the talks can go on to other subjects. Harriman recalled that President Johnson already had limited the bombing.

So far, he said, there had been no response that would justify the risks that a complete bombing halt would bring for U.S. troops.

The North Vietnamese have insisted that it was slander to say that they had troops in the South. But Lau referred to U.S. proposals on limiting North Vietnamese infiltration as an escalation of American terms for stopping the bombs. He did not deny that the North Vietnamese are infiltrating.

Asked how the new attack compared with the seizure of June 15, which had been termed a major one, the doctors said: "Equal severity."

The doctors have referred to the latest attack as a myocardial infarction, characterized by damage to the heart muscle.

He said Tuesday that anyone who has "sustained a recent infarction is considered to be seriously ill."

Soon after the June 15 heart attack, Eisenhower's doctors said that "the early period following any heart attack is the most critical." They further defined the "critical period" as generally extending through the first week immediately following such an attack.

Coroner Ralph J. Wallace said, the victim died of severe internal injuries. A passenger in the auto, Leonard J. Ingrao, 15, 227 King St., Jamestown, was also taken to the Westfield hospital where he is being treated for leg injuries and a fractured nose.

The driver of the second car involved was Warren F. Raynor, 45, R.D. 4, Dewittville. Raynor escaped serious injury in the accident which occurred at the intersection of Route 17 and Elmwood rd.

Raynor told deputies he had stopped at the traffic sign on the Elmwood rd. and was proceeding into the intersection when his car was rammed by the southbound Chippell auto. A spokesman for the sheriff's dept. said Wednesday night, a full investigation of the circumstances surrounding the accident is continuing.

York Imposes Curfew on City To Curb Violence
YORK, Pa. (AP) — York's public safety director imposed a curfew on the city Wednesday night following the outbreak of racial violence for the fourth time in five days.

The director, Jacob W. Hose, said the 10:30 p.m.-to-daybreak curfew was necessary to "choke off" violence which began when roving Negro gangs started tossing bottles and firebombs.

There were no immediate arrests or injuries, Hose said. Hose said the trouble was in the vicinity of the Penn Street area where violence broke out early Sunday, after a white man began firing a shotgun from his apartment window.

The man, Chester Roach, 58, was arrested Monday and charged with assault with intent to kill and disturbing the peace. Twenty-five State Policemen were standing by, Hose said, but were not immediately called in.

Nixon Wins Nomination On 1st Ballot

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, who battled a loser's image to build a political comeback, swept to his second Republican presidential nomination early Thursday.

When the rhythmic roll call of the states reached Wisconsin, Nixon's vote reached the 667 majority which won him the prize, his party's 29th nomination for the White House.

And when the call was completed, with Nixon the winner, states which had cast votes for other candidates began switching their ballots to the nominee.

It came after 7½ hours of nominating speeches and of carefully rehearsed and staged demonstrations for the contenders: Nixon, Rockefeller, Reagan.

The giant wave of cheers began even before Wisconsin cast its decisive ballots. For Nixon had won its 30 votes by primary election, and the convention knew that made it the crucial delegation.

Kane Kids Ripping Up Ragweed
KANE, Pa. (AP) — The kids of Kane are ripping up ragweed like made this week so every body else can relax next week.

That's when the big late-summer hay fever season begins. Across the country as many as 20 million Americans will start sneezing, coughing and using up handkerchiefs by the dozen as the microscopic pollen from the pesky plant takes to the air on its annual mission of misery.

But not in Kane. All of the ragweed will have been ripped from the ground, carted off to the city dump and burned.

They've been doing it for 15 years, and the little town of 5,000 in the Allegheny Mountains has become a haven for people who suffer the most.

Standa addressed 350 of PSEA's local association leaders attending a president's work shop in Chambersburg this week.

"PACE will enable us to analyze the legislative performance of incumbents and promises of first-term candidates," Standa explained. "And PACE will announce support of candidates or denounce laggards. PACE will support those who worked to get additional funds for education or who were supportive to other educational programs in the PSEA legislative packages, regardless of political party affiliation."

PACE will be governed by a board of directors consisting of officers of the parent PSEA organization and district representatives.

Those already named from the districts include: Louis Guisto, Windber; Charles Hash, New Oxford; Joseph Kimbuck, Bethlehem; John Lowry, Washington; Fred McKillop, Meadville; Don Ruckie, Westmoreland County, representing PSEA's legislative committee; Robert Ulrich, Williamsport; and Robert F. Ward, Mount Lebanon.

Four more members of the board of directors remain to be named, Standa said.

Ground Broken for Youngville Fire Hall, Recreation Center
The highlight of the groundbreaking ceremony for Youngville's new fire hall Wednesday was the presentation of a silver shovel by Warren's fire chief E. N. Fitzgerald to his counterpart from Youngville, Chief Lee Sittler.

Chief Sittler and Wallace Long, president of Youngville's volunteer fire department, shared the honor of moving the symbolic "first shovelful of dirt" in the construction of the 9,000 square foot, brick building. Donations and pledges from the people of both Youngville and the surrounding area have met the $125,000 construction cost. Teenagers have contributed $2,000 to the fund.

Robert Thompson, chairman of the fund raising committee, commended Youngville's fire department for their community spirit. He remarked that both the borough swimming pool (built two years ago) and the new fire hall prove that "when we want something in this borough, we can get it."

Jim Malone and Victor Miller, borough managers of Youngville and Warren respectively, joined in praising the fine cooperation found among Youngville people.

The fire hall will have a community center and large parking lot attached, making it more than a home for Youngville's fire company and ambulance service. The recreation facilities will include a kitchen and large meeting room suitable for social gatherings of all groups of people.

The new fire hall will increase the effectiveness of the Youngville fire company. The location of the building on the old athletic field retains the strategic placing of the fire-fighting equipment at the center of town, and a new driveway, 40 feet wide, providing access to Main st. will insure maximum speed in the race to get the trucks on the way to a fire. In the new building, each of the trucks will have a separate bay which will increase both efficiency of deployment and convenience in the maintenance of the equipment.

The new fire hall and recreation center will benefit the community of Youngville in both increased fire protection and improved social facilities.

FORMAL CEREMONY
Youngville Fire Chief Lee Sittler, left, and the fire dept. president, Wallace Long, shared the honor of moving the symbolic first shovelful of dirt at the site where the new 9,000 square foot fire hall will be constructed. The new building, being constructed with funds acquired from donations and pledges from the people of Youngville, will cost an estimated $125,000. (Photo by Mahan)

The meetings will open at 9:30 a.m. in the local courthouse on the second Friday of each month.

Negroes Go on Rock-Throwing, Looting Rampage in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Incensed by the appearance of police at a black rally, groups of young Negroes went on a rampage of rock throwing, burning and looting Wednesday night in a Miami business area. Ten persons were hurt and at least 40 Negroes were arrested.

Three hours after the first reports of rock and bottle throwing at 6:30 p.m., police said the area was quiet but tense.

Miami Police Lt. Jay Golden said "some shots are being fired indiscriminately, mainly at windows, but no one has been injured. There has been no police fire."

The trouble broke out in an area of Miami, some 10 miles across Biscayne Bay from Miami Beach where the Republican National Convention was in session.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, in the audience at the convention, heard of the trouble and broadcast an appeal to "all my brothers and sisters not to turn to violence."

Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, also at the convention, went immediately to Miami and ordered 500 National Guardsmen to a standby basis.

A leader of the black rally said Negroes became incensed when police began massing for no apparent reason at the site of the rally in Northwest Miami.

"We were trying to give our people some of their black culture," said Bob Johnson, a youth who said he was a nonviolent Black Nationalist.

"The people we are trying to reach, they can't sit down in peaceful assembly without being harassed," he said. "If they don't stop treating our people like dogs and animals, they're going to act like dogs and animals after nightfall."

The trouble was the first major racial violence to occur in Miami and came about eight months after Police Chief Walter Headley announced a "get tough" policy on crime that included patrols on which officers were armed with shotguns and dogs.

Three people were hit by a barrage of rocks and concrete chunks. A Miami Herald photographer was "severely beaten," according to police.

Police said the rock-throwing began shortly after two dozen police withdrew from the rally place.

However, police said they dispatched 200 riot-equipped men, armed with shotguns, carbines, "plenty of ammunition" and bullet-proof vests to areas adjacent to the trouble zone.

As police withdrew twice from the center of the trouble area, stretching along 62nd Street from 12th to 17th avenues.

Police lobbed at least three tear gas shells at a crowd of angry, shouting youths after the photographer and a patrolman were injured.

A crowd police estimated at 2,000 cheered as the youths began ripping down iron gratings on store windows and carting off merchandise.

Firemen Respond

Warren Borough firemen responded to an alarm shortly after 9 p.m. Wednesday when the motor of a window fan at Warren General Hospital burned out. There was no serious damage reported. Firemen were on the scene approximately 20 minutes.

Nine Trapped After Explosion In Coal Mine

GREENVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Nine men were reported trapped Wednesday following an explosion in a coal mine south of this small community in western Kentucky.

The Muhlenberg County Sheriff's Department also reported that at least six coal miners were being treated at a hospital here for injuries suffered in the accident at the River Queen mine.

A shift foreman said rescue workers were being hampered by dense smoke, gaseous fumes and high temperatures in the mine.

At one point, the 10-man rescue team reached an area in the mine where the temperature was reported above 200 degrees Fahrenheit.

The exact location and depth of the miners was not known in the underground catacomb of tunnels and shafts.

Attempts were under way, however, to drill an air shaft into the mine at a point where the miners were believed to be trapped.

It was not known immediately what caused the explosion inside the mine.

Smethport Man Injured in Mishap

A Smethport, Pa. man was taken to Warren General Hospital Wednesday with injuries sustained in a one car accident on Route 948 east of Barnes.

William Z. Kish, was treated for a laceration of the elbow and released following treatment, according to a hospital spokesman.

The accident occurred at 12:40 p.m., according to state police of the local substation, when a car operated by Kish failed to negotiate a curve in the highway, crashed through the guard rails, and into a utility pole. Police stated the Kish vehicle severed the utility pole and tore out seven guard rails over a distance of 100 feet.

Total damage resulting from the mishap was estimated to exceed $1100 police reported.

Girl Killed in Fall At Amusement Park

PITTSBURGH (AP) — One girl was killed and another injured Wednesday when they fell 30 feet while on one of the rides at Kennywood Park.

The girls were riding the "Popover" when a bolt holding the cage they were buckled in apparently snapped, dropping them to the ground.

Nina Rach, 15, of Monongahela was dead on arrival at Homestead Hospital. Nancy J. Menendez, 15, of Monessen suffered fractures of both wrists and was hospitalized in fair condition.

A park spokesman said the girls were with a group attending a community picnic at the amusement park.

He said the "Popover" is a ride similar to a Ferris Wheel, except it moves faster.

Stassen Plods Campaign Trail Down to 'Last Ditch'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Right down to the wire and the late innings and the last of the mixed metaphors, Harold E. Stassen's 11th hour drive for the Republican presidential nomination moved in low gear Wednesday night.

The former governor of Minnesota, who has been running after the lease at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue since 1948, when Rix Tin Tin was the cat's pajamas and Lassie was a boy and Richard Nixon was 35, wooed eight broadly based, hardly eroded state delegations Wednesday. There was little damage.

Stassen's courtship was courtly, his manner high-minded, his content gently programmed to the country's needs in world affairs. He did not shout, bargain or cajole, wine or dine or even take delegates for a boat ride. There were no bribery charges.

He said he would be nominated by his one avowed delegate, nephew Robert Stassen of Minnesota.

The question of who would second his nomination was still moot as Stassen toured the past midnight. At one point, he said there would be a seconding speech by Paul M. Walter Jr., a senator of Ohio. But Walter said he was voting for John V. Lindsay of New York.

Stassen's press secretary, Lou Simmons, disclosed, as Tuesday gave way to Wednesday and Wednesday gave way to Armageddon, that the ex-governor, in the privacy of his secure Seville Hotel suite, behind the protection of Secret Service men, was working on his acceptance speech. That seemed to be no problem.

"I'm sure he has written them before," Simmons said. "He's well prepared."

The question of floor demonstrations was muted, Simmons thought they would be modest. He also thought that though Stassen refuses to commit himself to the vice presidency he'd probably accept it. He said, too, that the whole Stassen campaign has been "vulgarized" by the press, which has ignored his principles and zeroed in on his $400 toupee.

Has the wig helped?
"It has attracted a few remarks but there would be no issue except for the man wearing it."

SAFETY IN NUMBERS
NEW DELHI (AP) — Summer is the "crime season" in Delhi and the police are planning to patrol in groups this summer to tackle gangs of criminals, a police spokesman said.

It was Simmons who unleashed the governor's "realistic"—or as he put it, "surrealistic" appraisal of his delegate strength.

"We feel our potential exists somewhere after the sixth ballot, Nixon's failure on the first, second and third will shake confidence and give rise to a credibility gap. After three ballots, the delegates will be in disarray and Reagan will be the beneficiary of the waning Nixon strength. Somewhere between the fifth and sixth ballots, an equilibrium will be reached between Rockefeller and Reagan and no reconciliation will be possible."

"At that point, the governor feels, the delegates will begin to turn to the dark horses, Hatfield of Oregon, Lindsay of New York or Stassen of Minnesota. Stassen would then be able to move in, galvanizing the disenfranchised, the young, the black and the poor."

And so to bed.

When the trees in front of the Warren Post Office along Liberty and Third streets were removed recently, a great deal of beauty was taken away from one of the community's nicest looking buildings.

It was one of those things that had to be done. But it always leaves a sadness when such beauty must be sacrificed.

So it was good news to learn Wednesday that next spring the

One for All, All for What?

MIAMI BEACH—At one point during the dull second night session of the Republican convention, as delegates wandered around the floor in search of relief from oratory, a pair of reporters button-holed Rep. Roger Morton, Richard Nixon's floor manager. Almost before they could ask a question, Meade Alcorn, a high lieutenant of Nelson Rockefeller, came bustling up to shake hands with Morton. The two politicians exchanged friendly insults but before anything serious could be said, Len Hall, the Rockefeller floor manager, joined the conversation with a big grin on his face.

At this point, the newspapermen gave up. One of them wandered off and found Cliff White, Barry Goldwater's chief delegate hunter in 1964, and Ronald Reagan's this year, enthusiastically applauding the appearance of Tom Dewey—who used to be the head coach of the "Eastern Establishment."

White was a Dewey protégé years ago, and Morton, Alcorn and Hall were all close associates in the Eisenhower days of Republican ascendancy. Nevertheless, these glimpses exemplified the aggressively friendly spirit to be found among the delegates and the political agents operating here. There was rivalry aplenty, and the Nixon camp was plainly unhappy about Reagan's raids on the southern delegations; but compared to the hatreds and zeal of the 1964 convention in San Francisco, this one has been a love in.

The hot-eyed motions of the Cow Palace have seemed to break through just once, so far. When, on opening night, a mixed bag of Republican candidates for the Senate were trotted out to a quick turn on television, a shrill, fierce yell went up for Max Rafferty, the demagogic Californian who charged in from the right wing this spring to upset the moderate Tom Kuchel in a party primary. It only lasted a few seconds but it was a moment of genuine passion, when even the long ovation for Barry Goldwater had seemed more nearly a sentimental offering.

It is also possible—even likely—that Reagan supporters will turn on the pressure for the vice presidency if his presidential candidacy fails. This would more than distress the moderates here, and if pressed too far might threaten another party split.

But the evidence so far is that by and large the party has learned the most obvious lesson of 1964—that ideological division simply means disaster. Goldwater said it forcefully Monday night; every candidate seems aware of it; most of the delegates, almost fatalistically, seem ready to accept whoever wins the nomination and to go right out and campaign for him, even with gritted teeth.

George Romney wanted desperately to amend the platform to put in his pet anti-monopoly language, but forbore nobly in order not to open up the question of platform amendments. Goldwater's running mate, Bill Miller, was here strong-arming delegates for Rockefeller. Rep. Mel Laird, who put together Goldwater's platform four years ago, now is advocating Rockefeller for vice president on a Nixon ticket.

borough parks department will plant new trees to replace the old. We are glad.

But the subject makes us wonder about the future of the beautiful, tall trees that make the approach into Warren via Market street so impressive. They, too, will go some day. Plans may be in order for their replacement when the time comes.

The Hippy Shipies

There was a little light left. The skyscrapers of New York resembled a forest fire when the trunks are bright with embers. Confetti and streamers of colored paper floated down the steel sides of the 20,000-ton liner Independence. An elderly woman, confused in the din of departure whistles, asked which way the ship would go. A teenage boy pointed to the sky. "That way, lady," he said.

"Away out."

This is a hippy-yippy cruise, Captain Charles E. Reilly, white-haired master of the Independence, stands on the wing bridge and orders starboard engines slow astern. Down the sides of his ship he sees a 60-foot orange sunrise with 10-foot eyelashes. Radiating along the hull and up over the lifeboats are yellow and raspberry sunrises. Ship travel began to die in 1960, when the big jets arrived. Everybody flies except the Duke of Windsor and Jackie Gleason. Ship travel was always a formalized bore to me, like strolling the promenade deck ten times, engaging in a vicious duel of shuffleboard.

The Sacramento River and the Hudson are full of rusting American ships. The Queen Mary is gone. The Queen Elizabeth follows soon. American Export-Isbrandtsen Lines lost $5,000,000 last year on three ships — Atlantic, Constitution and Independence. Others are headed for the shipbreakers. The public weighed six days on a ship against six hours on a plane and the wings won. Getting there was not half the fun.

William Fugazy, President of The Diners Club, thought that a wild Go-Go ship could recapture the romance of the sea. He selected the Independence for the experiment. Jakob Isbrandtsen, president of the shipping line, listened to Fugazy and spent $3,500,000 redecorating the liner.

Redecorate is hardly the word. The 400-foot sunrise on both sides of the hull have panicked other ships at sea. When the Independence is in port, it's still away out. Men's and Ladies' rooms are marked Bonnie and Clyde. On the bottom of one of the two swimming pools, the word "Splash!" is in eight-foot letters. There are orchestras and rock 'n' roll which thump, twang and blare until 4 a. m.

Outward bound, the Independence passed the Statue of Liberty flipping her scuppers. Other ships spotted the orange sunrise and whistled like street-corner hoodlums. Aboard there was a Get Acquainted Party for those who travel alone. It's called Single-On. The younger set did its fertilization dance on the aft deck under colored lights.

The mothers and fathers were in The Thrifts Club sipping scotch and laughing at comics of the prohibition era. The little ones were in a movie house on C deck whopping it up to a horse opera called Bandoleiro!

There is another thing which makes this ship newsworthy. It is the first to become a hotel. Normally, the price of a ticket entitles one to passage, plus all that one can eat. The price of a ticket on the Independence averages $140 for a seven-day cruise to San Juan, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and back to New York. Meals are priced separately and the voyager has his choice of restaurants from an intimate place called The Gourmet Room to a hot dog and coffee place called The Seven Seas.

It's a one class ship, so that those who share four bunks in one stateroom on a low fare basis are permitted to use the same swimming pools and night clubs as those who spend $360 for a stateroom on the sun deck. The goal, obviously, is to tempt families to sign on for a one-week Caribbean cruise who have never gone to sea before. The Go-Go aura is designed to attract the young, while still cultivating the parents on another level of entertainment.

If this works out — there are 135 more passengers on this trip than the Independence averaged under the old system — other ships are going to be converted into floating hotels. The staid Constitution, on which I sailed to Mediterranean ports 13 years ago — is going to have a huge head of a woman painted on her bows with the hair streaming all the way aft on the hull.

Fugazy is already studying the contours of the elegant liner United States, as the shipping world studies him and his wild notions. If it fails, the luxury liner becomes a museum piece. If it succeeds, the seas will be dotted with hippy shipies designed to terrify the monsters of the deep. . .

Convention Hoopla Costs

MIAMI—It's been a great week in Miami. The political atmosphere has been hot, the ocean cool, the bands exciting, the hotel lobbies jam-packed, the scramble for tickets frustrating.

When it's all over, however, the cold inescapable fact is that you, the taxpayer, will have to pay for it all. You'll have to pay for the orange-colored elephant dressed in a mini skirt, the sky-writers that zoom over the ocean front, the red-white-and-blue decorations and all the other visible hoopla. In addition you'll have to pay for the invisible hoopla — the TV time, the organizers sent by the candidates to each state, the baby-sitters that watch each delegation, the travel back and forth, and many more state and congressional campaigns and finally the cost of the big showdown in November.

This may be a very killjoy look at politics. Certainly it's something the public doesn't know. But the fact is that the public will be paying for these campaign costs through continuing high taxes and continuing tax loopholes for the oil companies, the real estate lobbies and probably high-priced drugs. For tax loopholes for some mean higher taxes for you.

Here is how it has worked in the past:

In 1960 John F. Kennedy, campaigning for President, had given a pledge that he would curtail the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance which permits oil companies to pay between 4 and 9 per cent taxes, whereas other corporations pay 52 per cent.

After making this pledge, however, and as he got deeper into the presidential campaign, Kennedy was appalled at the mounting costs of being elected President. Though a wealthy man, he faced campaign debts running into the millions.

In the end, a sizeable part of that campaign debt was paid off by oil men at a huge $1,000 a plate dinner organized by the Murchisons of Texas.

After that President Kennedy pretty much ignored his pledge to close the loophole in oil taxes. He submitted a proposal which was so ambiguous that Congress ignored it.

Another illustration was what happened when Eisenhower ran for President. One of his biggest backers was Sid Richardson, the big Texas oil man, a Democrat. At first Richardson tried to persuade Ike to run as a Democrat. When that failed, Sid was quite willing to back a Republican; for oil is thicker than politics. He and other oil men put up all the pre-convention expenses for Eisenhower at the Commodore Hotel in New York, later a sizeable part of the election campaign expenses.

The investment paid off. After Ike was elected, he signed the tidelands oil bill which President Truman had vetoed, appointed a panel, large-

The Food Price Rise

One key pocketbook issue for which the 1968 Republican Party platform proposes no real solution is the spiraling cost of food to us, the nation's 200,000,000 consumers. When the Democrats meet in Chicago this month, it's a certainty that they, too, will fail to find any workable answer to the food cost squeeze now being felt by every American.

Neither party will come up with the answers because even a complete overhaul of our present farm policies would not significantly lower food prices.

Neither party will press for lower wages for workers in the food industry, already among the lowest-paid workers in the nation; the politicians couldn't.

Neither party will argue that lower farm prices will bring sharply lower food prices; lower farm prices wouldn't. And actually any new forms of protection for the food shopping public, such as more food inspection or new ways to enable consumers to comparison-shop, would more likely raise than reduce food prices.

The political reality is that we, the consumers, are primarily responsible for our own rising food costs, and we are ly dominated by oil men, to make a study of oil import quotas, and at first gave his blessing to a natural gas bill, taking the regulation of gas prices away from the Federal Power Commission, until the lobbyists spoiled it by contributing $5,000 to an Eisenhower dinner and trying to bribe Sen. Chase of South Dakota.

Seldom have the oil lobbies had their way so blatantly as in the Eisenhower administration. And whether he realized it or not, the oil companies figured that their advance investment in paying Republican campaign debts was well worth while.

This is almost certain to happen after the Republican convention today, and after the Democratic convention in Chicago. The system is completely bi-partisan. And it isn't always the oil boys who pay and profit. There are others.

At Miami the big drug manufacturers seem to be among the generous backers; also there's an interesting question regarding the long row of millionaires' yachts where various state chairmen and key delegates are being entertained. How much will the yacht owners discreetly influence future legislation? Some are entertaining for influence.

But regarding drugs, there are no question marks. With the government paying for hundreds of millions of dollars worth of drugs under the Medicare program, the National Association of Pharmaceutical Manufacturers has become one of the most powerful lobbies in politics.

The chief issue is: the price of medicine. The drug lobby wants medicine purchased not by its generic names, which are dirt cheap, but by the highly advertised trademarked names which you see on television and which are considerably more expensive. The drugs are just the same. Only the name is different.

This has been one of the big debates in Congress and the chief champion of the drug lobby is Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Nebr. Significantly Hruska has been appointed on Richard Nixon's select nine-man board of congressional advisers.

Eugene Beasley, head of the Eli Lilly Drug Company, is also on Nixon's economic committee, while two executives of Warner-Lambert, William Lasdon and Elmer Bobst, are very close to Nixon and put up $8,000 between them to finance two of Nixon's committees, "Congress 66" and the "Committee of the Loyal Opposition."

But whether it's drugs or oil or real estate, big labor or big farmers, the tab for the American political convention must be paid by someone. Also the ever-escalating cost of elections must be paid. We cannot become either a nation of millionaire candidates for public office or of poor-mouth candidates who put themselves in hock to big business or big labor for the future.

The Corrupt Practices Act, supposed to regulate the expenses of political campaigns, is the most tattered law on the statute books.

It needs drastic revision. This column will report further on this vital question.

WILLIAM BUCKLEY

Bear In Mind The Rules

It pays, in watching the presidential candidates perform under intense scrutiny, to keep reminding yourself of the rules of the game. These are relatively humane under the circumstances. I.e., they not only let the candidate get away with murder, they applaud the crime, the bigger the better. On the Sunday before the convention opened, Governors Reagan and Rockefeller appeared before a panel of questioners. Of the two, Mr. Reagan was in the worse position. In appearance, he wasn't an avowed candidate. He had consented to go along, on the favorite-son fiction.

Now this meant, among other things, that he could not express himself as being as honest as Mr. Nixon and Mr. Rockefeller. Mr. Reagan's constancy to the conservative cause is well known. So that when forced to declare a preference, it was rather like asking Senator Fulbright to choose between Adlai Stevenson and Harry Byrd.

They said to him: Governor Reagan, the office of the President of the United States requires a great deal of experience in government. Do you, who have been governor for only two years, feel that you have sufficient experience? A terribly tough question.

Reagan gently advanced his own credentials. He was careful not to diminish those of any other candidate. Mr. Rockefeller is not capable of doing that sort of thing. His entire hour with Meet the Press was a sustained assault on the qualifications of Richard Nixon. He appears to be incapable of political civility. For instance he was asked: How do you account, Governor, for the indisputable popularity of Mr. Nixon in the Republican Party? He might have answered that Nixon had a fine record, had served ably as Vice President, showed great strength under adversity, had a perfectly decent set of parents — something of the kind. But no.

What accounts for Mr. Nixon's popularity, said Mr. Rockefeller, was his service over the years as a "fund raiser" for Republicans, which is in a class with saying that what stands out in the Rockefeller record is his dedication to public parks. And then the governor of New York launched into a catalogue of distortions and misrepresentations which he rolled off with such aplomb as to win at least this observer's admiration.

One of the reasons he is opposing Nixon, he said, is the menacing power of George Wallace, an influence which he wishes to suppress. (Actually, all the polls show that Wallace would run stronger if Rockefeller were nominated.) Why had Rockefeller finally decided on the 30th of April to run, when he had so often stated that he would not run? Because of the retirement of Lyndon Johnson, the assassination of Martin Luther King, and the riots in the streets — all of them convincing him that the Republicans needed a winning candidate. (B-but Johnson's withdrawal made it TOUGHER on the Republicans; the assassination and the riots were arguments for unity within the parties, not the disunity Rockefeller has brought; the April 30 date was neatly situated just after the deadline for the last Republican primary. . . .)

How did he account for Nixon doing so well in the primaries? Well, "unfortunately" Nixon didn't have much opposition. (Nixon staked out a race in New Hampshire against the man Rockefeller considered the strongest competitor in the country; and anyway, Nixon had got a total of 1.7 million votes, whereas other Republicans combined had got 2 million votes. (This dazzling act of brinkmanship was done by counting 1.4 million votes for Reagan in California at which Reagan had been completely unopposed!)

What did he think of the new Nixon? Well, he thought the New Nixon was different in the same sense that everybody is in some sort of a way different from what he was, but under stress, and one mustn't forget that that is what the office of the President primarily is, a situation of Great Stress, somehow the old Nixon would take over, and we would be back with "A very intuitive political operator."

Here surely is the greatest poker player in the Republican Party. But, to judge from what one gathers here at Miami Beach, the delegates aren't calling him. They don't want to play.

Higher Education Plan

HARRISBURG—Whatever happened to the once loudly-touted "Master Plan for Higher Education in Pennsylvania"? It was one of much work in the early stages and much stalling in the later. Worse yet, the final chapter may never be written.

This tale begins in June, 1963, when the Legislature directed the State Board of Education to develop a plan to help colleges and universities meet the anticipated heavy educational demands "of the future."

Early in 1967, following a series of public hearings, many meetings with an advisory group and various consultants — and an expenditure of more than $100,000 — the completed plan was presented to the Legislature.

By mid-1968, the plan appeared to have reached the end of the road. With only one exception, all legislative attempts to implement the blueprint are now bottled up in Republican-controlled committees in either the House or Senate.

The halt was not totally unexpected by those who have fought this battle before, however. Bills to revise Pennsylvania's higher education system have been in the General Assembly in other years and met with the same fate.

Senate Democratic Leader Ernest P. Kline, Beaver County, dwelled on this in June when he urged the Republican majority to act on legislation to implement the Master Plan. He was talking specifically about a bill to establish a state-wide Board of State College Trustees to replace the individual boards at the 14 state colleges.

"Bills to implement this recommendation were introduced in this chamber on October 18, 1965," Senator Kline said, "but they died in committee. . . (similar) bills were introduced in this Senate under bipartisan sponsorship in August, 1967, ten months ago, but the results are the same as in 1965, they are committee-bound. . ."

The establishment of a state-wide board of trustees is one of the major recommendations of the Master Plan. Most of the gubernatorial appointments to the individual boards are politically motivated, one good reason behind much of the clamor for a change.

But there are other recommendations in the plan equally worthy of consideration, namely:

—Greater autonomy for presidents of the state colleges.

—Expansion of the present scholarship and loan programs.

—Establishment of loan program for prospective college teachers for full-time graduate studies.

—Development of plan for state aid for doctoral programs.

—Revision of the practice of providing state-aid to private institutions.

—Creation of a capital assistance fund to encourage private institutions to expand.

And here is the sorry story on efforts to implement the plan: —In April, 1967, the Joint Democratic Committee on Education of the General Assembly published a position paper which differed with the Master Plan in some areas and agreed with it in others. By May 1, implementing legislation in both the Senate and the House.

—In August, 1967, Governor Shafer, although choosing to ignore most recommendations of the Master Plan, sent to the Senate (under bipartisan sponsorship) bills providing for a state-wide board of trustees and for more autonomy for the state college presidents.

—In June, when it became apparent the administration bills in the Senate would not be moved, the Governor offered two identical measures in the House. These were approved and sent to the Senate.

As already noted all but one of the bills, including those offered by the Democrats, are lying dormant in either House or Senate committees. The single exception is the measure seeking more autonomy for the state college presidents, which was amended by the Senate and now is before a House-Senate Conference Committee.

Interestingly though, the people of Pennsylvania, who paid for this study with their taxes, have yet to be told why most of it is unacceptable to administration Republican lawmakers, who theoretically at least, run and control the whole legislative show.

The fact that enrollment in our institutions of higher learning will increase by more than 200,000 to an estimated 528,000 by 1977 makes it painfully obvious that a plan of one form or another is needed—now!

An amusing letter was received at the office of Recorder Don Schuler from a man who resides now in Canada and who applied for a marriage license here 18 years ago. He and his bride were married by the late Justice Watts N. Davis, according to the letter, and three days later the bride threw him out of the house. He now wants to know if he can procure an annulment.

Golden Happening--A Towering Lobster Souffle

In some families, Friday is still traditionally fish day. For others, any day is fish day. Whatever your family's habit may be, the day you serve seafood can be a real "happening", because there are so many delicious ways to prepare fish and shellfish. Also, because both fresh and frozen products are available, cleaned and dressed, seafoods are among the quickest and easiest kinds of food to prepare.

One impressive seafood dish you'll want to try next time guests are due is this sumptuous lobster souffle, made with South African rock lobster tails. New York State sauterne gives this high and handsome souffle its subtle flavor. The pink bits of lobster help to make it very colorful. Then the sauce, also laced with sauterne, really glides the lily.

Serve this lobster souffle with a green salad and a lazy Susan platter of cherry tomatoes, marinated green beans, artichoke hearts and carrot nuggets. That's all you'll need to set the stage for a dinner party that is a delicious "happening."

SUMPTUOUS LOBSTER SOUFFLE
1 package (3-ounce) frozen South African rock lobster tails
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour

1 cup milk
1 teaspoon chopped chives, fresh or frozen
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Dash cayenne
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons New York State sauterne (+)
5 egg whites, stiffly beaten

1 egg yolk
1 egg
1/2 cup half-and-half
1/4 cup New York State sauterne (+)
1/4 teaspoon salt

Cook lobster tails as directed on package. Cool in cold water, remove and chop lobster meat -- there should be about 1 cup. Melt butter in saucepan. Blend in flour. Add milk; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Remove from heat; stir in lobster, chives and seasonings. Beat in 4 egg yolks, one at a time. Add 2 tablespoons sauterne. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into a 6-cup souffle dish. Heat oven to 400 degrees; put souffle in oven and reduce heat to 375 degrees. Bake 30 to 35 minutes or until a knife stuck into center comes out clean. Serve immediately with sauce made as follows: Beat egg yolk, egg, half-and-half, 1/4 cup sauterne and 1/4 teaspoon salt together in a small saucepan. Cook over low heat, beating to avoid curdling. Cook until thickened. Do not overcook. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

(+) Lemon juice and water in equal amounts may be substituted for wine.

LOBSTER SOUFFLE

Souffles are among the most impressive of dishes for elegant entertaining. They need only the simplest of accompaniments since they are the star attraction.

Montgomery Ward finished the season with an 8-1 victory over the Eagles in a Western Midget League game. Greg Williams was the winning pitcher for Wards, who finished the season with a 12-4 record. He received plenty of support as Jim Wiles cracked a bases-loaded triple, and Larry Linman and Kevin Kiser each rapped a three-bagger. Williams and Corky Fry smashed doubles for Wards. Scott Kornreich had a perfect 3-3 night, including a double, and Greg Redding knocked a double for the losers. Tim Gay suffered the mound defeat.

Jackie Martin pitched for the winners while Stan Kilmartin and Jamie Goerlick hurled three innings apiece for the Merchants. Goerlick cracked a double for the losers but the big blow in the game was a triple by Tom Kottraba, which drove in the winning run.

BASKETBALL REC LEAGUE CHAMPS

The Blues defeated the Blacks 61-59 for the tournament championship in the Summer Recreation Basketball League last night. # Round Ball Tournament Snagged by Blues 61-59

It was certainly a fitting climax to a successful first season last night at Beauty gym when the Blues coached by Bob Koebley nipped the Blacks of Bill Mervine 61-59 in a thrilling down to the wire basketball contest.

The Blues jumped out to a lead at the outset of the game but after the Blacks got back into the contest midway through the opening stanza the difference was never more than four points and the lead changed hands too many times.

The Blacks had finally crept into the lead with about 40 seconds to go when Hobbie Kern of the Blues was fouled. With a one and one situation he sunk the first but missed the second, however, alert Larry Spence who played an outstanding board game all evening for Koebley's five connected on a tip into the Blues a two point bulge.

The Blacks had a chance to tie but while in the process of putting up a shot, fouled Mark Krumm and the younger of the talented brothers stepped to the line and calmly dropped through two foul shots for the clincher. Mark's older brother Dan came up the floor to sink his 30th point of the game but it was with only 5 seconds remaining and time ran out for the Black squad.

The ball game was very well played from start to finish and was certainly all you could ask of a championship game. Congratulations are in order to both winners and losers.

There will be two more games of the all star variety to be played before the league calls it quits. Next Tuesday night the recently named all-star team will face a team of Collegians comprised of former Warren players organized by Bob Arnold. Then on Thursday evening they face the Coaches, which should definitely be a crowd draw as the all-star team have promised to take it easy on the Rec leaguers.

Tigers Clinch Pair

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Freehan's two-run double capped a three-run Detroit rally in the first inning and the front-running Tigers defeated Cleveland 6-1 Wednesday night after completing a 5-2 victory in a game suspended the night before.

After John Wyatt retired the Indians in the ninth inning of the suspended game, making that victory official, the Tigers jumped on Sam McDowell, Cleveland's starter in the regularly scheduled contest.

Mickey Stanley opened with an infield hit, McDowell walked Dick Tracewski, and when his first pitch to Al Kaline was a ball, Eddie Fisher relieved McDowell.

Hinton Leads Angels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chuck Hinton continued to torment his former teammates, singling home the winning run in the seventh inning as the California Angels defeated the Washington Senators 4-2 Wednesday night.

Hinton followed two unsuccessful bunt attempts with a ground single to left scoring Don Mincher, who opened the inning with a double off loser Camilo Pascual.

Hinton doubled and scored in the fifth and, for the season, has 12 hits in 32 times at bat against the Senators for a .375 average.

Astros Slide By Mets

HOUSTON (AP) — Right-hander Steve Niekirk came along in the eighth inning to squelch a New York uprising and preserve Houston's 4-3 victory over the Mets in a rhubarb and fight-filled game Wednesday night.

The Mets had bounced back from a 4-1 deficit with two eighth inning runs, both on Cleon Jones double, had the tying run on second and none out before Pat House got one man out and Shea took over to get the final two.

The Astros had a 2-1 lead in the fourth, then scored two more on Denis Menke's single, Doug Rader's triple and Dick Simpson's sacrifice fly.

The brawl erupted after Rader's hard slide into third base flattened Kevin Collins.

Sports of The Times By Robert Lipsyte

GYPSY JOE AND EMILE

PHILADELPHIA — In the past year, a small cult has grown around a mediocre Philadelphia prize fighter named Gypsy Joe Harris in much the same way that small cults grow around those third-rate painters and poets whose style of life and work offers ripe and ready symbolism. Gypsy Joe, said the promoters and sports writers, is fresh and modern and challenging. First, he does not train properly; this is proof he is throwing off boxing's old rigidities. Second, he is a vague youth, given to going around the corner for a week; he is, at the least, boxing's "Flower Child," to be encouraged and nurtured. Third, his herky-jerky, cake-walking, boogaloo, strut-and-spin, snap-and-swivel routines in the ring do not interfere with his absorbing three punches for each one he throws; he will ennobles and purge the thousands who come to pay homage.

Until last night, Gypsy Joe never lost as a professional. He won 24 straight fights, mostly against fighters with considerably less pizzazz, color, style, soul, charisma or box office, pick any two. His victory over Curtis Cokes, the Welter-weight Champion, was in a non-title match, and many observers believe that Cokes could not, for one reason or another, bring himself to destroy a legend.

Last night came down hot and wet and stinking in South Philadelphia, the air around the spectrum fetid with car fumes, pollution, wine and hoarse breath. Ol' Gyps was a favorite to beat Emile Griffith, the former middleweight and welter-weight champion, partly because Harris is a sweet homeboy who walked the ghetto trailing the tinkle of shoe bells, and partly because Griffith, eight years older at 30, was considered an abused workhorse who has pulled too many loads in too many towns.

The mistake, of course, was in misjudging Griffith, who has trained and fought seriously for years because he is pressed by the support of more than a dozen relatives. But Emile has always thought of himself as the symbol of pizzazz, color, style, soul, charisma and box office. He flounces through life dripping with jewelry. He acts bitchy and giggly by turns among people who respect his moods.

While Emile might turn in a lackluster performance against some straight arrow of a classical boxer like Joey Archer or Nino Benvenuti, it was hardly likely he would stand around while Gypsy snatched his thing.

In the ring, the two men looked very different. Griffith is charcoal brown, his alert, mobile face framed by long sideburns, his shoulders incredibly broad. His torso is powerfully muscled, and V-shaped; his waist is very narrow. His legs are thin and ridged with muscles and blood vessels.

Harris's brown body seemed smooth, even soft, the stomach slightly swollen. His shaven head makes his deadpan, broken-nosed, sad-eyed, slack-jawed face appear even more vulnerable. In the first round, when Gypsy threw a quick right, then spun away, a favorite routine, he looked like a trick-or-treater soaping a window and dodging around a corner.

Emile had listened to his managers, and he played Gypsy perfectly, ignoring the head-snaps and the shoulder rolls and the skip-steps and the windmill gestures. Emile ripped hard left hooks to his head from the very start, nailed him with straight rights, shouldered and chopped in the clinches. Gypsy, pressed throughout, tried to tie up Griffith and slow down the attack. For all Gypsy's perpetual motion, there was no substance to anything he did last night.

Between the ninth and the 10th rounds, Gypsy's stool collapsed under him, a kind of final non support, and the fans concentrated on cheering the one or two gestures he might offer each round—an abrupt about face against the ropes, perhaps, four, running steps in place or the convulsive sag of a puppet losing two strings suddenly. The crowd of 13,875, an indoor record for Philadelphia, began leaving before the 12th and final round.

Those that did, however, missed Griffith's crowning gesture. Despite his marvelously controlled fight, Emile could not resist his own touch of flash, and at the end of each round he would tap Harris atop his head as they passed en route to their corners. At the end of the fight, Griffith threw an arm across Gypsy's shoulders and skipped him around the ring.

When the decision, a unanimous one for Griffith, was announced, the two men hugged each other and took turns picking up each other. They giggled and poked and pranced until their joint, post-fight news conference. Each soberly praised the other's skill. Gypsy said that Griffith's "vast experience" was the deciding factor. And Emile shaped and clarified the evening by crying: "would I mind fighting Gypsy again? No, I wouldn't mind fighting Gypsy again. Look at the crowd we made out there."

SMITH SPRINTS TO VICTORY

Tommy Smith (No. 1) of San Jose, California, gets set to break the tape and win the Men's 200-meter invitational event at the News of the World International Meet at White City Stadium Saturday. The lanky American, who said before the race he was ready to join any Negro boy-cott of the Olympics, sprinted to a White City Stadium track record of 20.8 seconds, beating Ralph Banthorpe (No. 3) by about a yard.

Phillips Joins Bengals As He Leaves Michigan Prison

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — His brand new black shirt, except for the huge white 30, looks no different from any of the other black shirts. His bright orange helmet is no brighter than the others, either.

But for Jesse Phillips, the uniform is a lot different from the drab gray clothes he wore last week.

Until last Friday, Jesse Phillips was a inmate in a Michigan prison camp. Now he is a prime candidate for a job with the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League.

"He's a young kid who made a mistake," said Mike Brown, assistant general manager and son of Coach Paul Brown. "I think he's going to turn out just fine, not just as a football player but as a person too."

The mistake Phillips made was forging names on checks so he could get some extra money. He did it while he was a student at Michigan State, and the ensuing trouble interrupted both his education and his budding football career.

Tried and convicted last November, Phillips was sentenced to 15 months to 14 years. Midway through the eight months he was to serve, the Bengals drafted him.

"I had received the usual brochures and folders from the pro teams," said the Texan, indicating his two years as a defensive back at Michigan State had not gone unnoticed.

"I had hoped that I'd be drafted. I felt there was enough teams that someone could overlook the problem and realize that here was a college kid who made a mistake. I'm glad Mr. Brown felt this way."

More than Brown apparently thought highly of Phillips. In fact, the Green Bay Packers reportedly had the 6-foot-2, 205-pound youngster listed among the five players they considered the best college seniors in the country. But Brown made him the Bengals' seventh selection in the draft.

Jesse was released on parole last Friday, picked up and driven to the Bengals' camp by Mike Brown, worked out Saturday morning and dressed and sat on the bench for Cincinnati's first game, against Kansas City Saturday night.

"It's the first time I can remember being on the bench and not getting into the game," Phillips said.

"We think he's a good football player," said coach Paul Brown. "He made a mistake. He's 21 years old. We're going to give him a try."

That's all Phillips wants.

Warren Car upped their record to 13-4 and maintained their hold on first place as they took an 8-2 decision from El-Tronics. Gary Sodek hurled the win and led the hitting with a pair of two-baggers. Scalise was tagged with the loss for El-Tronics.

Barn Takes Playoff

Dudley Nollinger pitched a three-hitter to lead Red Barn to a 5-1 victory over Ideal Bakery in a playoff game for first place in the Eastern Bantam League. Red Barn backed up Nollinger's 16 strikeout performance with four doubles, one each by Nollinger, Benny Bjorkquist, Randy Cook, and Tom Bally. Jeff McClement was tagged with the loss for Ideal.

Olympic Hopeful Runs With Peach Seed Charm

SCOTTDALE, Pa. (AP)—Tiny Sam Bair will run in the Olympic trials just like he does in any other race—with a peach seed around his neck.

The seed, carefully carved into a monkey's head by his great grandfather, was passed down in the family and now hangs loosely on a shoestring around Bair's neck.

"I've worn it ever since Dad gave it to me when I was a sophomore," says Bair. "I can't say it brings me special luck, like Mom does. But I won't take it off."

Bair, a 5-foot-6, 122-pound 1,500-meter runner, is out to gain one of three berths on the Olympic team.

He and nine other runners will compete Sept. 9-17 at the trials at Lake Tahoe, Calif., some 7,300 feet above sea level.

"As I see it, I have as good a chance of making the team as anyone, with the exception of Ryun," Bair says.

He says all the millers, except Jim Ryun, world mile record holder, run within one second of each other and anyone could win the trials.

Bair has finished every major race except one in fourth place or better. He finished second to Villanova's Dave Patrick in the preliminary trials in Los Angeles, only one-tenth of a second off the pace.

"Patrick is a fine runner,"

Blueberry Hill Member-Guest Play This Week

The Blueberry Hill Golf Association will hold its first annual Member-Guest Tournament this Saturday and Sunday, August 10 and 11 on the Club course.

A field of 30 teams have been entered with promises of several more. Guests from the areas outstanding golf courses will be teeing off.

Free tee times will appear in Friday's T.M.O. Anyone wishing more information may obtain it by calling Bob Zydonick, PGA Pro, at Blueberry.

Bair says, "But he's like the rest of us, Ryun. He's a superstar. He runs smooth as silk."

Bair used to be a worrier. He even got an ulcer his first year at Kent State in Ohio. But no more. Now he thinks about his girl Susan Showalter.

"I didn't date in college until my junior year," he says. "Then I met her. Now before the races I think of her."

Bair is a hero in Scottsdale, a tiny steel-rolling town just east of Pittsburgh. A booster club held a dinner for him and his pictures hang in a barber shop.

"Everyone in Scottsdale was asking me when I was going to break the four-minute mark," he says. "It was a relief when I finally did in a race with Ryun, even though it was the only time I finished sixth in a race."

Does Bair hope to beat Ryun? "Honestly don't think I can," he says. "Me running with Ryun is like a terrier running after a greyhound. But I'll keep trying. It would be a big thrill."

Steelers Weed Players Out in Pre-Season Play

LATROBE, Pa.—The Steelers open their pre-season schedule Friday night against the Cardinals in St. Louis but already the coaches know they must look at miles of movies before reducing the squad to 40 players—the limit allowed by the National Football League.

A number of rookies and a couple of men who apprenticed on last year's taxi squad have been making moves to win a place on the payroll.

Included in this group are backs Rocky Bleier, Notre Dame's captain last year and Byron McCane, a green but speedy back who spent last year with the Oklahoma City Plainsmen, a minor league club. McCane has size and speed but has had no college experience. Yet his natural abilities have caused the daily habits at the training camp to start to figure he might win a place on the roster.

There are some young linemen, Mike Taylor, the big No. 1 choice from U.S.C. and Ernie Ruple, the No. 2 men from Arkansas, both tackles, certainly must be rated on their early training camp performances, along with Jerry Moore, a 250-pound strongman from Bethune-Cookman, who played last year with the Wheeling Ironmen in the Atlantic Coast league. Tony Jeter, a member of last year's taxi squad, has been making a strong bid to move up to a position with the championship team. He has good hands, is big and a tough runner. He seems more adjusted to the "run to daylight" system this year.

Election Campaign Costs to Total $50 Million

NEW YORK—By the time the November election rolls around, presidential candidates will have spent a total of nearly $50 million for their campaigns, according to Dr. Herbert E. Alexander, director of the Citizens' Research Foundation.

Before the balloting begins, possibly another $10 million to $21 million will be spent by state and local sponsors backing national political tickets.

The estimates by Alexander, quoted in an article in Look magazine, show that the cost of campaigning has been escalating steadily. In 1952, campaign costs averaged only 18 cents per vote cast but by 1964, the figure was 41 cents and may go to 50 cents this year. By comparison, elections in Britain averaged nine and a half cents per elector in 1966.

Up to convention time, Alexander calculates that between $15 million and $21 million will have been spent by the candidates, much of it going to purchase television time, travel expenses, staff salaries and opinion surveys.

Before the Nov. 5 election, Alexander estimated that the campaign of former Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama will have cost an estimated $7 million. The article also gave a run-down on the estimated spending in the presidential race this year by a number of other candidates, including those of President Johnson, the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

DEMOCRATS
President Johnson -- about $500,000.
Sen. Kennedy -- more than $3 million.

REPUBLICANS
Richard Nixon -- $3 million to $5 million.
Nelson A. Rockefeller -- between $3.5 million to $5 million.
Gov. Ronald Reagan -- about $500,000.
Gov. George Romney -- between $750,000 and $1 million.

ROLLING STONES FILM
LONDON (AP) — The Rolling Stones, one of Britain's top pop music groups, are to star in the first feature film under the direction of France's Jean-Luc Godard.

The film, entitled "One Plus One" will be Godard's first film in English. It will be produced this summer by Cupid Productions.

The Rolling Stones will be seen cutting a record in the film.

Birthday For a Princess

LONDON (AP) — She has long, sturdy legs and blonde hair, with a rather big nose and tough hands which can deal with a horse.

She tells her brother off, from time to time, and manages to be a tomboy in one moment, a lady in another, and a sister and a daughter. Apart from all that, she has to be herself.

This is Princess Anne, who will be 18 on Aug. 15.

She is the second child of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip. Her brother, Charles, will be king one day.

Anne does not figure on being queen. If anything happens to Charles, her younger brother Andrew inherits the title. So her finest title is likely to be "the princess royal." That probably will be conferred on her by her mother, the queen, on her 21st birthday.

On her 18th birthday, she will be in fact part of the royal establishment on the move without any complaints. The queen, and her father, Prince Philip, have arranged for the royal yacht Britannia to sail from Portsmouth to Scotland with Anne and the prince of Wales aboard.

By Aug. 15 they either will be aboard or in Scotland.

The completion of her secondary school last month, for all practical purposes, could be the finish of her school learning.

Her parents have not yet decided if she should go to university. Her brother, Charles, the prince of Wales and future king, is at Trinity College, Cambridge.

She took senior levels in history and geography at her private school, Benenden. Anne has taken piano lessons, but that is about the end of her musical attainment.

Anne knows her brother will be king. But she still sticks her tongue out at him.

They get along because, as one palace source put it, "Charles is basically kind and he gets along with everyone."

At 18, she is 5-feet-6 and now out of the awkward stage.

One is inclined to ponder about romances for such eligible girls, but in the case of Princess Anne there are so few "eligibles" that the question has not arisen.

Anne is an outdoorsy type. She likes riding, like her mother, also hiking, fresh air, camping, and sports which require muscle. This is precisely like her father, the duke of Edinburgh, and it is not far from her Scottish ancestry from grandma — the Queen Mother.

She will, after 18, get quite a few jobs. There are so many things to be dedicated, so many strings to be snapped at openings, so many shovelfuls of earth to be turned, that Anne will get more than her fill.

"She'll stick her tongue out at the world and manage very well, thank you," a close friend said. "And she'll find the man she wants."

Two Bodies Recovered from Lake

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Two more bodies were found in Lake Erie Wednesday as the search for victims of a light plane crash near South Bass Island continued, the Coast Guard said.

One of the bodies found Wednesday was identified as that of Robert Gordon, 25, of Cleveland.

More than 4,200,000 persons sustained injuries in automobile accidents last year. Driver error, according to The Travelers Insurance Companies annual statistics, was responsible for more than 80 percent of the 1967 highway casualties.

The other body remained unidentified, as did one of two bodies found Tuesday. The fourth body was that of student pilot Len Selders, 25, of Akron. Coast Guard officers said a helicopter and one cutter were being used in recovery efforts Wednesday. Wreckage of the plane had not been located.

Ex-Serviceman Traveling From Canada to Miami

By FRANKLIN R. HOFF

A most unusual tourist visited Warren this week. He is John Troesser, of Miami, Florida. He is hitch-hiking from a visit with friends in London, Ontario, returning to Miami. Troesser hitch-hiked to Canada from Miami. More than that, after his discharge from the U.S. Army 28 days ago, after two years service in Vietnam, he came partly by bus and partly hitch-hiked across the country from Fort Lewis, in Washington State, to his home in Miami.

The journey from Fort Lewis to Miami took four and one-half days. "I slept on buses and in service stations along the way," he explains. In Vietnam he served his two years with the First Air Cavalry Division, and is a demolition specialist. He entered the Army right out of Miami-Edison High School.

Since his return, he has been traveling, mostly by hitch-hiking, to major cities in the U.S. "I am disturbed at the situation in the cities," says John Troesser, "with all the unrest, racial disorders and other problems, so I have been visiting in many cities over the country."

About his future he says: "I have a Vietnamese wife, so am returning to Vietnam in October as a civilian."

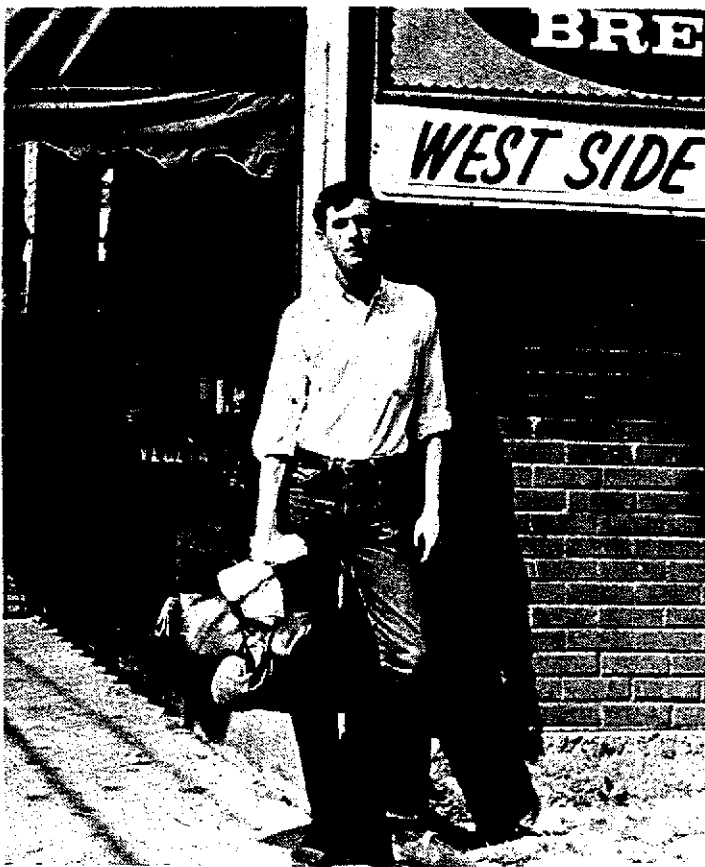

I have an 18 months contract to work with American contractors in Vietnam. I'll be working with sheet metal, repairing helicopters."

He flew helicopters much of the time in Vietnam.

"I saw both sides of the war, the South Vietnamese and the U.S. Army, because for six months I lived with the South Vietnamese people."

Troesser explains that his marriage in Vietnam is recognized under Vietnam laws, but not by the American government in that country. He says he was too far, and in action, from the U.S. Embassy in Saigon to make the required arrangements for Army approval. Upon his return he will have a second ceremony at the American Embassy in Saigon, to comply with U.S. regulations.

Upon his return, he contemplates moving his wife, and their expected baby, to Thailand. "If the war continues," he observes, "Thailand will be a safer place to live for my wife and children. The Vietnamese people are an older people than the Thai, but Thailand is much more westernized and modernized. It is more advanced than Cambodia, Laos or Vietnam. They have retained their own culture, whereas the Vietnamese had lost much of theirs during the French colonial period. The Thais have actually

They have retained their own culture, whereas the Vietnamese had lost much of theirs during the French colonial period. The Thais have actually been manufacturing their own arsenal of weapons for defense in this war—including their own design of 152 millimeter howitzer."

Although his present home is Miami, John Troesser is a native of Danbury, Connecticut, which is betrayed by a pleasant trace of New England accent.

He was very happy over the courtesies and kindnesses he has received during his brief sojourn in Warren, and remarks about the friendliness of the people and the beauty of the town.

Government, Steel Compromise On Modest Price Increases

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A price battle between the White House and the steel industry appeared ended Wednesday with both the government and companies compromising on modest price increases.

U.S. Steel, the nation's biggest producer and usually the pacesetter, announced it was boosting prices on steels used in making such major products as auto bodies, refrigerators, stoves, machinery and buildings.

But the hikes were not as high as the nearly 5 per cent across-the-board increases announced a week ago by the No. 2 producer, Bethlehem, and Bethlehem immediately fell in line, chopping its boost to 2.4 per cent.

Four other big firms, National, Jones & Laughlin, Inland and Armco, followed with announcements they would remain competitive, meaning that their prices would be brought into line with those of U.S. Steel. All the price hikes are effective Aug. 16.

If all the companies follow the same pattern, it would mean that the latest round of price increases would apply to about 60 per cent of the industry's shipments.

At the Texas White House, President Johnson was quoted as saying the moves by U.S. Steel and Bethlehem are a "substantial improvement from the general inflationary trend."

Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said, "It is gratifying that the U.S. Steel action significantly reduced the threat of a large and general inflation in steel prices."

One industry observer described the price adjustments as a compromise. Another commented that the day's developments appeared to mark the end of the latest government-industry hassle over prices.

Most government officials refused to crow about the development but one, who declined to be named, said "It's a hell of a victory for the President."

Okun said that "Compared to the threat posed last week, American consumers have been saved a half billion dollars inflation."

Government economists intimated that 2.5 per cent would become a guideline for steel industry increases but they said this was not an official yardstick.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., met with the Federal Trade Commission to press for the investigation he had recommended. The Commission is scheduled to reach a decision Thursday on the request, an FTC spokesman said.

Hart, chairman of the Senate antitrust subcommittee, said in a statement that the rollback was the result of "President Johnson's firmness in defense of price stability."

The confrontation between the White House and the companies was the most dramatic since 1962 when the late President Kennedy angrily forced the industry to roll back a general 3.5-ton price boost.

Since then, the industry has soft-pedaled its price boosts, increasing a product here, another there.

Pennsylvania Happenings

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Has author Arthur H. Lewis put a hex on a big, big Hollywood movie which may or may not be based on his book?

Lewis, a former Philadelphia newspaperman, wrote "The Lament for the Molly Maguires" and sold the picture rights to the book to Paramount Pictures, now turning the subject into an $8 million movie.

Most of this mammoth bankroll was spent in northeastern Pennsylvania's hard coal fields — around Eckley, Jim Thorpe, Hazleton, Wilkes-Barre. That's where the fabled "Mollies" thrived — and died.

The story deals with murder and violence in the anthracite fields when immigrant Irish organized a secret society to fight the economic bondage of 19th century mine and railroad owners.

Paramount calls its picture "The Molly Maguires" and producer-writer Walter Bernstein and director Martin Ritt insist their story "has absolutely no resemblance" to Lewis' book.

Lewis, of course, mopes a bit today in his air-conditioned Philadelphia home because the movie producers — who just finished hard work on the hot sets built in the real coal mine towns — aren't going to use a line from his book, and thus won't give him any screen credit.

Lewis admits he laughs all the way to the bank (with that undisclosed five-figure sum he was paid for his story) but his ego remains slightly bent. And kidding friends don't help.

When the "Molly" cast of several hundreds assembled this spring at Eckley, headed by Sean Connery (of James Bond fame) and Richard Harris, book-writer Lewis — "a coal cracker myself, born and raised in Mahanoy City" — was all set to host a big party, until he found out he wasn't being included.

"I thought maybe I'd flipped my lid," said Lewis.

He's now working on a new book, based on the mysterious goings and doings of the Amish and others of the Plain People sects in and around Lancaster County, Pa.

"During my research I became friendly with an extremely powerful warlock who hangs out his shingle a few miles south of Franklin and Marshall College," relates Lewis.

"I had to see this guy to clarify a few points in the new book, and I blurted out the story about the 'Molly Maguires' movie. My pow-wow friend went into a deep trance, and when he awoke with a strange smile on his face, he told me he'd put a hex on everybody connected with the picture."

Now, it is true that the movie-making on location ran behind schedule, the accidents sidelined some of the cast, that expensive retakes were necessary because the 20th century intruded into the 1870s.

"Did I go too far and should I call it off?" asks Lewis.

Bombs Shatter Windows In Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH (AP) — House windows were shattered and a car was damaged in two bombings late Tuesday and early Wednesday in Pittsburgh's Squirrel Hill section and suburban Avalon.

The first blast occurred at the Avalon home of William Kauffman. About 45 minutes later another exploded in the driveway of the Squirrel Hill home of Irwin Kitman.

Nobody was injured. Police arrested George E. Lee of Pittsburgh on an arson warrant sworn out by Kitman. Lee was arraigned before Magistrate J. Lloyd Jones and released in custody of his attorney. A hearing will be held Aug. 12.

Kitman and Kauffman, both inventors of burglar and fire alarms, told police they withdrew from a proposed business partnership with Lee earlier this year after they learned he faced criminal charges.

The U.S. Attorney's office said Lee faces a white slavery charge in Columbus, Ohio. He was freed here on $10,000 bond in February to await extradition proceedings. Lee also faces federal court action here in September on a charge of receiving a stolen vehicle.

The blast at Kitman's home, the third within six months, shattered windows there and at the home of a neighbor.

Windows also were broken at the Kauffman home, and the family car was damaged. Kauffman's wife and seven children were at home when the blast occurred. They escaped injury.

The city's bomb and arson squad is investigating. Lt. Norman Sanner said the type of explosive device used has not yet been determined.

Goldberg Calls Crime Law Of Dubious Constitutionality

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg charged Wednesday that the new crime law passed by Congress to overrule some Supreme Court decisions is "both ill-conceived and of dubious constitutionality."

Goldberg, now in private law practice after serving three years as America's ambassador to the United Nations, told some 600 attorneys he questions the legality of some sections of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act, which became law in June.

"Those sections seek to overrule decisions relating to rights of accused defendants and to legalizing wiretapping, make bad law," Goldberg said.

Caseworkers Enter Graduate Schools

Two caseworkers on the social service staff of Warren State Hospital are entering graduate schools of social work next month under Pennsylvania's Professional Education Program.

H. George Perkins, of 1102 Conewago ave., will enter the University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work. His wife, Jane, and his daughter, Traci, will accompany him to Pittsburgh, where the family will reside during his two years of graduate study. Perkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Perkins, of Pittsfield.

Dominick A. Crino, of 109 Park st., will enter Syracuse University School of Social Work. His wife, Joan, and his two small sons, Dominick, Jr. and Mark, will reside with him during his period of graduate work. Crino is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick J. Crino of Dunkirk, N.Y.

Following their two years of study, which will prepare both men for the degree of Master of Social Work, Perkins and Crino will rejoin the staff of Warren State Hospital.

Killed in Fall

PITTSBURGH (AP) — William Kommer, 92, of Ross Township was killed Wednesday when he fell 12 feet from a back porch while washing windows.

He spoke at a breakfast of the American Judicature Society, meeting in conjunction with the 91st annual convention of the American Bar Association which winds up a week-long meeting Thursday.

Goldberg said crime and racial violence can be fought best through laws that attack the causes that create slums and poverty.

At a news conference afterwards he emphasized he doesn't object to all provisions in the law "and those that stress law enforcement, I support."

The Supreme Court has been under attack in the last few years especially for allegedly laying down strict rules on how police and prosecutors treat criminal defendants.

These opinions, which critics claim has allowed crime and violence to mount unchecked, have been the source of much of the controversy surrounding President Johnson's new appointments to the nation's highest court—Abe Fortas as chief justice, and Homer Thornberry to succeed Fortas as associate justice.

Goldberg hailed the elevation of Fortas, who replaced Goldberg on the court when he resigned to go to the U.N.

"He has performed with very great distinction and should be confirmed by the Senate when it reconvenes," said Goldberg.

On the crime bill, Goldberg alleged it was adopted during a time of stress and such periods "make bad law."

Goldberg insisted the current growing troubles in America's cities aren't caused by court decisions that demand that police protect the constitutional rights of all persons, murderer or not.

"It is imperative that we recognize that if the law is really to come to grips with the problems of racial discrimination and poverty—the two great domestic problems—it must make itself felt not at the end of the policeman's nightstick," said Goldberg.

"It must manifest itself in just and equitable provision for the righting of wrongs."

Goldberg insisted the answer to poverty and ignorance in the slums isn't "the law of the police blotter, but laws that provide education, jobs, housing and public facilities of all kinds."

"It is up to the law promptly to create these facilities where they are lacking, and promptly to secure equal access to them where race prejudice has customarily denied such access," he said. "In such an affirmative body of law lies our real hope for domestic peace and stability in future decades."

Economic Opportunities Council Receives Grants Totaling $80,396

The Warren-Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council, Inc. learned Wednesday of four state grants totaling $80,396 which will enable the local office to further its work in the two-county area.

Project Top

Gov. Shafer approved Wednesday $134,877 in federal anti-poverty funds for programs to benefit the elderly in four counties.

The grants included $45,981 for a training program to be operated by the Warren-Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council Inc.

This program is known as Project Top, a training program conducted at Warren State Hospital. Announcement of the appointment of a supervisor for this program is expected tomorrow.

OEO Activities

State Rep. William W. Allen announced Wednesday that the Warren-Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council, Inc., has been approved to receive $10,400 in state funds to continue the program of the Economic Opportunity Act locally.

Allen stated that when Gov. Shafer signed House Bill 1038 into law on Jan. 26, $3,000,000 in state funds were made available for Community Action Programs for the first time. In fact, Pennsylvania was the first state to adopt such a program.

The state grant to the local OEO may be used to match up to 10 per cent of the local cost of federally financed Community Action Programs. It initiates a new state effort in the vital area of community development. For the first time it places the Commonwealth in a position of contributing financial assistance to communities participating in this program. The state grant-in-aid program will be administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Community Affairs under the direction of Secretary Joseph W. Barr, Jr.

Locally the money will be used to provide necessary non-federal funds for the following Community Action programs: Conduct and administration, which is the central administrative office for all local Community Action programs.

Head Start, which is a cultural enrichment program for preschool children who have not had a kindergarten experience.

Homemaker, Home Health Aide program which will provide trained people to give assistance in the home when emergencies arise.

Neighborhood Youth Corps, which provides employment opportunities in local non-profit community projects for unemployed teenagers.

Homemaker Service

Rep. Allen also announced that the Warren County commissioners have received approval for a $7,500 grant from the Pennsylvania Office of Family Service to continue Homemaker, Home Health Aide services in Warren County.

Allen stated that the commissioners will match the grant from the Office of Family Service with an additional $7,500 of local funds. The county commissioners had previously agreed to underwrite with the proviso that citizens of the area felt the program was of sufficient importance to the community to support it by contributions to the extent of $2,500.

He said that the approval of this state grant allows the commissioners to enter into a purchase of service agreement with the local OEO to expand this vital program which was initiated by them in September of 1967 and began with a six-week training program from which eleven people were graduated. Several of the graduates have been employed by local agencies to provide health services. Seven of the graduates have been retained by the Warren-Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council, Inc., and have been employed since Dec. 1 to render homemaker and home health aide service in homes as needs arise.

Homemakers are carefully selected, trained mature women who are interested in helping others. They are employed on a full or part time basis under supervision of the director of Homemaker Service. Homemakers help families and individuals in their own homes. They can do routine light housework; supervise the children; plan, market, and prepare meals; and maintain a well-run, happy home.

Due to the urgent need of more homemakers a new class is currently being scheduled to begin by the end of August. Perhaps this may be the kind of job you have been looking for. For more information call Mrs. Jane Nordin of the Homemaker

GRANT FOR OEO ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Magda Fanaritis, president of the board of directors, Warren-Forest County Office of Economic Opportunity, accepts a check for $10,400 in state funds which will enable the local office to further its work in the two counties. Presenting the check is Kenneth Fargo, state dept. of community affairs. Witnessing the presentation are left to right, Rep. William W. Allen; Lynas W. Shunk, chairman of the Forest County commissioners; Herbert Mortiz, Forest County commissioner; Miss Norma Mills, representing the Warren County Republican party; Norman Matthews, representing Warren County's Democratic party; Richard Brown, executive director, Warren Forest Counties Office of Economic Opportunity council; Robert Kunselman, representing Forest County's Democratic party; and County Commissioner Thomas J. Donnelly.

CHECK FOR HOME HEALTH SERVICES

Rep. Allen presents Mrs. Fanaritis with a check for $7,500, representing a grant from the Pennsylvania Office of Family Services to continue Homemaker, Home Health Aide services in Warren County. Witnessing the presentation are,

TO OPEN SENIOR CITIZENS CENTER

The Rev. Lynn Bergman, on behalf of the members of Experience Inc., accepts a check in the amount of $16,515, representing a state grant for the purpose of opening a multi-purpose senior citizens center in Warren. The state grant will be matched with an additional $16,515 of local monies for the center. Presenting the check is Rep. Allen. Witnessing the presenta-

Service of Warren and Forest Counties at 723-1712.

Senior Citizen Center

Rep. Allen also announced the approval of a state grant in the amount of $16,515 to the Warren County commissioners to open a multi-purpose senior citizen center in Warren County. The Warren County Commissioners have agreed to match the grant with an additional $16,515 of local monies.

Allen stated that the approval of this grant gives graphic evidence of the concern which the Commonwealth has for its senior citizens and the support it is willing to render to those communities who wish to serve their senior members.

The grant to the commissioners will allow them to enter into a purchase of service agreement with Experience, Inc., of Warren County which will actually open and operate the center.

Experience, Inc. has agreed to rent the first two floors of the former U.S. Marines building at 800 Pennsylvania Avenue West and will open the center there. Dr. Roger Mesmer, president of Experience, Inc., expressed hope that a director for the center will be chosen by mid-August and that the center may open shortly thereafter.

Since the Warren county commissioners may use funds for matching purposes from other than local tax funds, Experience, Inc. will be initiating a fund raising campaign in the near future to assist the commissioners in raising the funds needed for matching this grant. Private funds have already been offered to assist in this drive.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is a mother to do when her husband teaches the children crazy eating habits? I know what Madame Alphonse nifty -- his mother. She stood over the stove 10 hours a day cooking separate meals for every cracked member of the family.

His sister was a vegetarian and his two brothers wouldn't touch fresh fruits or vegetables or fish or chicken. An unmarried aunt who made her home with them lived on carrot juice, wheat germ, yogurt and hard-boiled eggs. His father wasn't crazy, just sick, but he had to eat special foods because of ulcers and diabetes.

When I married Alphonse I knew he would not eat or drink anything white -- potatoes, milk, rice, white bread, cottage cheese, whipped cream. The list is a long one. Now our oldest son (age 6) tells me he won't eat anything Daddy won't eat. Our youngest son is only three but he is already pushing away certain foods.

If you have any suggestions please pass them on. I am --- COOK FOR A KOOK

DEAR COOK: You can't change Alphonse's eating habits at this late date but you can refuse to knuckle under to the kids and I hope you do, for their sake as well as yours.

Make it clear that they will eat what is set before them and there will be no substitutes. If they push things away, say nothing. Remove the food from the table without comment. If they are hungry in an hour, tell them, "Sorry, mealtime is over." After a while they will eat what is served and everyone will be happier.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married 17 years. He is a lovely man and our marriage is an extremely good one. The tragedy of our lives is that we were never blessed with children. I went to specialists in three cities and was told by all it was extremely unlikely that I would ever have a family.

I am writing to ask what to do about my husband's widowed sister. Emily comes to our home every Sunday for dinner and never leaves without making some cruel remark about our not having a family. (She never says anything in my husband's presence.) Yesterday Emily looked around at our newly furnished sun porch and sighed, "A home is not a home without children. What a pity you failed George." She quickly added, "I know it's not your fault, dear, but it's a pity nevertheless."

This morning I received in the mail an article from a cheap magazine which said, "A man cannot truly love a woman until she bears his child." There was no evidence of who sent the article but I know very well it was Emily. Incidentally, she was married 25 years and had five children. Her husband drank himself to death and three of her children do not speak to her or to each other.

Shall I continue to burn silently or should I say something to George? -- VA OF VA.

DEAR VA: The next time your sister-in-law makes one of her darling remarks ask her to please repeat it in George's presence because you think perhaps he might wish to comment. If she is reluctant, keep insisting until she does. If George is the good man you say he is, he'll give his sister a reply that will button her lip for all time.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage -- What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Couple Pledge Vows At Holy Redeemer Nuptial Mass

A Nuptial Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Joseph Seyboldt on Saturday, August 3, at 11 a. m. for the marriage of Margaret Jean Shaffer and Philip James Mercorella in Holy Redeemer Church. The double ring service was observed, and the couple's wedding vows were pledged before a candlelit altar adorned with ferns and bouquets of white gladioli and giant mums set in gold vases. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Thomas Donnelly at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaffer of 620 Conewango avenue, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Frank Mercorella of 7117 14th avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride approached the altar in a white silk organza over bridal taffeta styled in an a-line silhouette with appliques of Peau d'Ange lace re-embroidered in seed pearls and crystals, brief sleeves, and a border of the exquisite helix forming the scalloped hemline of the long skirt. A chapel-length Watteau train fell in graceful folds. Her mantilla of silk illusion was bordered with a scalloped band of the lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, Stephanotis and ivy.

The matron of honor, Mrs. David Poorbaugh of State College, wore an ice blue bonded crepe with matching bow head-dress and carried a nosegay of blue and white daisies. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids Miss Barbara Tropp of Pottsville, Penna., Miss Roberta Schmidt of Chicago, Ill., Miss Judy Shober of Ephrata, Penna.

The best man was Thomas Barer of Erie, and ushers were Richard Guido of New York City, cousin of the groom, Michael Miller of Cleveland, Ohio, and Robert Shaffer, brother of the bride. Two other brothers of the bride, William and Joseph, served as altar boys for the Nuptial Mass.

The mother of the bride chose an ensemble of aqua in a silk blend with Venetian lace trim and a white flowered hat. The mother of the groom selected a pink silk coat and dress ensemble with matching accessories. Both mothers had corsages of gardenias and Stephanotis. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. John C. Shaffer, had a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held in the Woman's Club of Warren with seventy-five guests attending. Decorations were carried out in blue and white daisies and baby's breath, silver candelabra holding white tapers, and a wedding cake of four tiers topped with white and blue wedding bells. Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. John Fanaritis and aides were Miss Mary Anne O'Neil and Miss Peggy Wright.

For a wedding trip to Canada, the new Mrs. Mercorella wore a traveling costume of beige linen coat and dress. Upon their return they will reside at 3211 Wallace street, Erie.

The bride is a graduate of Warren Area High School, 1963, and has her Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees from The Pennsylvania State University. Mrs. Mercorella taught in Warren Area High School for one year, and will teach Biology in North East High School this fall. Mr. Mercorella is a graduate of Bishop Loughlin High School in Brooklyn, N. Y., and has a Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Francis College in Brooklyn, N. Y., and a Master's degree in Business Administration from The Pennsylvania State University. He is presently teaching in the Behrend Campus of Penn State, in Erie, where he is a member of the executive board and chairman of the cultural committee.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Frank Mercorella and Mrs. Desaro, girls from Atherton Hall at Penn State, Mrs. Robert Foster, Mrs. John Fanaritis. Out of town guests attended from Pittsburgh, Altoona, State College, and Erie, Penna.; New York City, Star Lake, Seneca Falls, Waterloo, N. Y.; Lakewood, N. J., and Vienna, Austria.

Bride-Elect Is Luncheon Guest Of Honor In Warren

Miss Rebecca Skillman of New Kensington, Pa., bride-elect of Michael J. Sterley, of Warren, was guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. Larry Gardner, and Mrs. Thomas Snow at the former's home at 1581 Scandia road.

A social afternoon was enjoyed with the guest of honor being presented many lovely gifts.

The luncheon was served on attractively decorated tables, with the theme being carried out in blue, white, and silver. The floral arrangement, a dainty teacup filled with baby mums and sweetheart roses, was presented to Mrs. Paul Skillman, mother of the bride-elect.

Miss Skillman and Mr. Sterley will be married in a ceremony September 7 at the Presbyterian Church in New Kensington, Pa.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR FOLKS:

Every try making throw pillows and stuffing them with that shredded foam rubber?

Well, a few weekends ago I helped a friend of mine make a bunch of throw pillows. All we could find late that afternoon was the chopped sponge rubber that comes in plastic bags.

I have fought that stuff for years, jamming my hand in the bag, grabbing a handful and transferring it to the pillow. Let's all face it... it's a mess.

After about the third pillow, it finally dawned on me -- why should I spill half of it in the bathtub? (That's the best place in the whole wide world to transfer feathers or any kind of pillow stuffing so it won't get all over the house.) Why not put the whole kaboodle, plastic bag and all inside the pillow?

We just slashed about two-inch "whacks" along the sides of the bag without even opening the top. Then stuffed the whole thing inside the pillow. That was the biggest lulu I ever ran across.

For the pillows that only took half a bag of shredded foam rubber, we took the side of our open hand (like karate) and hit the middle of the bag until the foam went down into both ends. Then cut the plastic in two with our scissors and slashed holes in the sides. Inserted the half bag of foam into the pillow and sewed it up.

That seems to be all there is to it, gals.

And better yet, next time I make a bunch of throw pillows for a friend, I'm going to buy plastic bags according to size. It may be a few cents cheaper to get a great big bag full of foam rubber, but the few extra cents you are going to save might save your own "senses" when it comes to stuffing those pillows.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: When our new baby arrived, our 18-month-old daughter was still on the bottle.

To avoid a mix-up in nipples and to be sure that the baby got the ones with the smaller holes, I marked the RIM of my nipples with a marking pen.

I use glass bottles for the baby and plastic ones for the older child so she can identify her own easily.

DEAR HELOISE: I use my meat grinder a lot and always dreaded to wash it.

One day I thought of using a round vegetable brush, but it was too large.

So I took the hammer and gave the brush a whack on its side making the wire oval instead of round.

Now I can push the long, oval brush into the grinder and clean it in a jiffy.

Mrs. R. Davis

AMA Health Hints

The suntan pills, used under medical supervision and obtained by prescription, can help "easy burners" be better protected against painful burn while acquiring a tan. They are not for self-dosage.

If you do get sunburned, treat it as you would any other burn. Use soothing lotions to ease the pain. If the burn is unusually intense, see a doctor.

Most of the suntan lotions contain chemicals called sunscreens, which absorb various wave lengths of burning ultraviolet rays to various degrees. The better lotions allow you to stay in the sun longer with less risk of burning. They do not shut out all radiation, or else you would never tan at all. There's no really good way to tell which of the suntan lotions is most effective for you until you try them.

Petersen-Yates Nuptial Service Saturday

Becky Ann Petersen became the bride of Larry T. Yates on Saturday afternoon, August 3, at 2:30 in a double ring nuptial service held in the First Lutheran Church. The Rev. R. Lee Mull officiated in the presence of approximately one hundred and twenty wedding guests. Wedding music was provided at the organ by George Johnson.

Altar flowers included arrangements of white gladioli and carnations and there were chancel baskets of white and yellow gladioli, carnations and pom-poms.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Petersen of 1820 Market street, extension, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yates of Rimersburg, Penna.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long princess style gown of white satin, the long sleeves tapering to wedding points. The gown was the same one worn by the mother of the bride, at her own wedding twenty-six years ago. The bride veil fell from a tiara of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of white roses and white carnations encircling a white rose corsage.

The matron of honor was the sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Robert H. Petersen of Selma, Alabama. Her gown was of mint chiffon with matching bow headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow pom-poms. Gowned identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Patty Yates, sister of the groom, of Rimersburg, and Miss Carol Reigard of McKeesport. Their headpieces were white bows with streamers and they carried cascade bouquets of white carnations with yellow pom-poms.

The best man was Richard Moore of Rimersburg, and ushers were Lt. Robert H. Petersen, brother of the bride, of Selma, Alabama, and William Yates, brother of the groom, of East Brady.

Acolytes for the nuptial service were James Nelson and Timmy Parker.

The mother of the bride wore a lace dress of aqua blue with white accessories, and the mother of the groom was in a beige lace dress with salmon colored accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations. Mrs. James S. Petersen and Mrs. John O. Erikson, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs.

Anna Yates, grandmother of the groom, all had corsages of white carnations.

One hundred guests were present at the reception which was held in Fellowship Hall at First Lutheran Church. Arrangements of flowers were used in decoration. Hostesses were Mrs. Herbert Erikson, Mrs. James Nordine, Mrs. William Yates, Miss Vicky Yates, Miss Doris Petersen, Mrs. C. P. Spiridon, Mrs. H. Storer.

For the wedding trip, the new Mrs. Yates wore a sleeveless dress of blue and white whipped cream with white accessories and a white rose corsage. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Yates will reside at 119 Chestnut street, Rimersburg, Penna.

The bride is a graduate of Clarion State College, 1968, and has a position as first grade teacher in the Sugar Creek Elementary School in Armstrong County. The groom, a graduate of Union Joint High School in Rimersburg has served three years in the U.S. Army and is now employed at Pullman Standard in Butler. He is a member of the Rimersburg Lions Club and the V.F.W. Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Herbert Erikson, Mrs. John Reddecliff and Mrs.

Bert Levinson; Mrs. Ray Caldwell, Mrs. James Nordine, Doris and Margaret Petersen. The rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yates, parents of the groom, at Jackson Valley Country Club.

Out of town guests came from Selma, Ala.; Santa Monica, Calif.; Hanahan, S.C.; Buffalo, Pittsford, Greene, Horseheads, Frewsburg, Randolph, and Jamestown, N.Y.; Pitts- burg, Mercer, Rimersburg and East Brady, Penna.

Grand Valley And Sanford

By LILY GARBER

Bible Vacation School at Sanford ended with a nice program Sunday morning which was attended by many parents and grandparents. The children were presented with certificates and gifts and their work was displayed. The teachers are to be complemented on what was accomplished in one short week.

Douglas Thompson was the speaker Sunday and gave a very interesting message and will also be the speaker next Sunday at both churches. There were ten ladies present at the W.S.C.S. meeting Monday night. Mrs. Betty Danielson was the leader and Mrs. Alice Vroman the hostess. The next meeting will be the picnic, more about it later.

Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Holcomb were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Beers of Cassadaga, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Lee McCloskey of Tidouche. Sanford Ladies Aid will be the 14th of August at the home of Mrs. Robert Marshall. This will be the time for learning who our "Secret Pals" were and getting the new ones for next year.

Mrs. Lily Garber was the winner of a nice Sunbeam Blender from the Dairy Institute of the Erie area.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gates were among those that attended the meeting at Camp Findley Sunday to hear Mrs. Gertrude Behanna, who gave a very interesting talk.

Mrs. Marg Eastman of Corry and Mrs. Marian Abplanalp and daughter of Youngsville called on Mrs. Clare Pierce on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Clare Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Danielson and daughter Barbara spent the afternoon at Findley Lake E.U.B. Camp.

Miss Barbara Danielson is spending the week visiting Miss Carolyn Grider at Zellenople who is a college friend.

Miss Lela Pierce is spending the week with her sister Mrs. Lois Moravek at Edinboro.

Kenneth Moore of New Brighton and Rickey Moffett of Beaver Falls spent the week with Mrs. Hiram Gordon. Monday, Mrs. Gale Moffett and Mrs. Ross Moffett of Beaver Falls called to take Rickey home.

There will be a bake-sale Saturday August 10 at the Neeley's Station at Grand Valley, the Young People of both churches are having it to help with their expenses for their trip to Buffalo, N.Y. They would appreciate donations of baked goods and are requested to have them there at 9 a.m. Selling will start at 10 a.m. until all is sold. Let's help these young folk out so they can make their trip to Buffalo.

Jeanne Scott finished teaching summer school on Friday in Franklin. Miss Karla Smith of Ballston Spa, N.Y. spent the time with her aunt and attended the classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Walters of near Meadville called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sonnie Garber on Monday and little Carla went home with them to spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garber, Robert Brown and Fred Dunham and Mr. and Mrs. Ilo Scott and Karla Smith, Carl Garber and Criss Garber were among the ones that attended the Firewarden's picnic at Chapman Dam on Sunday. Little Criss Garber was one of the lucky winners. Everyone reported a good time. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garber were among those that attended the tax sale in Warren on Monday and called on Leon Mitchell at Youngsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garber attended the FA and IU meeting on Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith at Pittsfield. There were 10 present. Mr. Smith is president.

County Involved in PACE Program

Work on the pioneering Independent Study in Literature Program involving new teaching techniques to enable student-learning without close teacher supervision, will be conducted at Edinboro State College during the week of August 18-24. Approximately eighteen school districts from Crawford, Erie, and Warren counties will participate. It will be coordinated by Alan Wolf, Director of the Conneaut Lake Independent Study Center, through a Title III grant under the Elementary Secondary Education Act of 1965. Independent Study will aid small rural schools to better prepare their students in advanced English studies. It will enable them to compete with other students from larger schools who may have had more extensive college preparatory classes.

The workshop will demonstrate how individuals working in small groups can communicate with each other, since this is a fundamental part of independent study. Participants will also view alternate curriculum units to supplement the existing units and learn methods of evaluating results of the program.

The main speaker will be Dr. Gerald Phillips, associate professor of speech at The Pennsylvania State University and author of the book, "Communication and the Small Group." From the Department of Public Instruction, there will be John Meehan, English curriculum advisor and William Dillum, a curriculum development specialist.

Interested educators working in the area of English, speech, and communications may obtain further information from the following sources: PACE Title III Office located at 1610 West Grandview Boulevard, Erie, Pennsylvania and the Conneaut Lake Independent Study Center, Conneaut Lake, Pennsylvania. A stipend will be paid to the first twenty applicants. Other interested educators will be welcome to attend, but no stipend will be available.

BIAFRA STARVATION ONE OF THEM WAS KATHY

2,000,000 of Biafra's children are under twelve years of age. One of them was Kathy.

She died of hunger at the age of eleven. Dr. Anne Seymour wrote:

The tiny ones at least do not realize what is happening to them. They simply grow weaker and weaker till death releases them: but the older ones know only too well what is at stake. Kathy, an intelligent girl of 11, cried every day and every night. She had been brought to us in an advanced stage of starvation. What little nourishment we were able to give her was not enough. After a fortnight's agony she died.

Biafra's 14,000,000 civilians have been caught up in the horror of civil war. 4,000,000 of them are homeless refugees, perishing in makeshift refugee camps or out in the open. Relief workers report that starvation is taking the lives of 3,000 a day; large numbers of these are children. Deaths may reach 2,000,000 by summer's end. International Caritas, using foods and medicines from Catholic Relief Services and other voluntary agencies, has completed scores of mercy airlifts into Biafra. Mercy shipments must be increased to save Biafra from becoming a mass graveyard.

'Sneaky Fitch' Now Playing At Plowright Playhouse

Sneaky Fitch is a low down, yellow — bellied, son-of-a-prairie dog. However, you could never shake the faith of any of the 22 members of the cast of "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch" or Majorie Melnick, the director of the play which can be seen at the Plowright Playhouse from Aug. 6 through Aug. 17. Theatre as an art form is unique. It involves a visual and an aural communication. Experimental theatre, the style in which this play is being presented, takes this idea a step further. That is, many techniques are being used to directly include the audience in this comment.

The play, as it is written, is a comment on the Old West as we imagine it. Yet this comment can become even more vital when it relates to human beings and human nature in any period of time or any place. Several devices are being employed for this comment: stylized characters, unseen by the realistic counterparts, commenting on the necessities of all mankind; dancers commenting through movement; tableaux figures making their comment with still poses; music hummed under the scenes to comment on human nature, and slides comparing the visual communication of a live and a still medium.

Hopefully an imaginative communication between performers and audience will evolve.

So, if you see 22 cowboys and cowgirls having a gunfight in the streets of town, don't worry. It's not a stickup or a stage-coach robbery. It's only the cast of "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch" reminding you not to miss their show at the Plowright Playhouse on the Scandia-Onoville rd., 10 miles from Warren, Aug. 6 through 17. ## Firm Holding $13.9 Million Contract for Rocket Launchers Is Charged with Creating Phantom Suppliers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Missouri firm that received a $13.9 million contract for rocket launchers only two weeks ago was charged Wednesday with creating phantom suppliers and receiving kickbacks on previous contracts of more than $47 million.

The indictment charges that more than $4 million was funneled to Swiss banks by the defendants "well knowing that their interest in accounts in Swiss banks could and would be disguised and concealed" by co-conspirators.

A Navy information officer said the indictments will have no effect on the new contract awarded by the Naval Air Systems Command on July 23 to Techfab Division of Alisco Inc. of St. Louis.

The Associated Press at the time of the award disclosed that the firm's previous contracts were involved in a federal grand jury investigation.

Chromcraft Corp., which merged with Alisco in 1966, was named a defendant along with the successor firm. Individuals named as defendants were Andrew L. Stone, principal stockholder, chief executive officer and a director of Chromcraft; Francis N. Rosenbaum, the firm's counsel in Washington and a director; Evelyn R. Price, executive secretary to Stone; and Robert B. Bregman, owner of Bregman Electronics Inc., of New York City.

Chromcraft, and later the Techfab Division of Alisco, have since 1962 been the sole supplier of 2.75 inch rocket launchers to the Navy. The launchers are used for folding fin aircraft rockets—missiles fired either air-to-air or air-to-ground.

The indictment says the defendants set up two firms—Scientific Electronics Ltd. and Bregman Electronics Inc.—each to be "a dummy corporation subject to the direction, control and use by the defendants as a conduit for the diversion of monies fraudulently obtained."

These dummy corporations, the indictment says, prepared purchase orders and invoices for items "that Chromcraft would not and did not purchase nor acquire," but for which the firm charged the government.

The two dummy firms sent their money to Switzerland and Lichtenstein, the indictment says, and the funds eventually landed in the hands of Hans Senn of the Bank Fur Handel and Effekten and Walter A. Lips at the Union Bank of Switzerland. Senn and Lips and Senn's bank were listed as co-conspirators but not as defendants.

The amounts transmitted to Switzerland were listed as: $2,227,592.13 and $1,180,692.10.

Another count said Stone and Rosenbaum caused Western Molded Fibre Products Inc. of Gardena, Calif., to pay kickbacks of $663,481.05 through checks made out to five foreign payees. Western Molded made parts for Techfab.

The indictments cover the years 1963, 1964, 1965 and January to May 1966.

Last spring, Alisco issued a public announcement that it was under Justice Department investigation and said Stone and Rosenbaum had resigned. Stone and Rosenbaum had been barred a year earlier as procurement sources pending investigation.

A telephone call by the Associated Press two weeks ago to Techfab headquarters in St. Louis, determined that Stone is listed as president of the subsidiary and Rosenbaum is a member of its board of directors. They could not be reached for comment.

In March, the Navy filed a report with the House Appropriations Committee that Alisco-Techfab was its only source of the rocket launchers, "a proprietary item developed by Chromcraft" before its merger with Alisco.
